Annadel State Park and Sugarloaf Ridge State Park are now Open

With most of the damage cleaned up from the recent storms, Sugarloaf Ridge State Park and Annadel State Park are now open. Crews have cleared the paved roads and cleaned out blocked culverts. There still exist downed trees and slides on some backcountry trails. Park Visitors are urged to use caution due to eroded trails, fallen trees and muddy conditions.

Jack London State Historic Park remains OPEN with restrictions. The Museum and historic Beauty Ranch areas are open but the trails are open to foot traffic ONLY. The trails at JACK LONDON SHP are CLOSED to bicycles and horses. Recently refurbished trails at that park need to dry out.

Bothe-Napa Valley State Park is open and its campground is in good shape. However, the road to the Day Use Area is closed to vehicles. Only Foot Traffic is allowed in that area until an engineering evaluation and repairs. Many trees remain across the backcountry trails.

Benicia State Recreation Area is open, but the far end of the Fisherman's Trail remains closed for safety reasons until a rock fall is evaluated.

Answering machines at each park will be updated daily with the most current information.
